

I.14.3 Student status following withdrawal

When the COA withdraws accreditation from a program, any student who is enrolled in the program before the withdrawal of accreditation and who completes the degree requirements within 24 months after the withdrawal date is considered to have graduated from an ALA accredited program. In the event that the end of the twenty-month period falls within an academic semester or quarter, the student has until the end of that semester or quarter to complete the program and graduate in order to graduate from an ALA accredited program.

The term enrolled is defined as registration in graduate level course work in library and information studies. This definition also includes all students previously enrolled in the accredited program who are still considered active under the institutional policy that exists at the time of the decision to withdraw accreditation.

The definition of enrolled does not include students who have been admitted to begin their study in the term after the date of the decision to withdraw or students enrolled in programs other than the specific program addressed in the decision to withdraw.
